

SOFIA GALATI

MAY 27TH, 2024

Dear Dragons,

I am writing to you because of my interest in your perspective on how I present myself professionally. I am a self-motivated worker and am known for my outgoing personality, and I am eager to share my strengths and weaknesses with you to gain valuable feedback for my improvement.

Throughout my time in school, I have shown to be consistent with my commitment in all of my classes and show dedication to everything I submit. I take my assignments seriously and always hand in the best work that I can. I thrive in both individual and group settings, bringing new ideas to the table and collaborating effectively with my peers. Even though I am naturally very outgoing, I can also step back and listen to others, keeping the group balanced and inclusive.

Outside of my school life, I actively demonstrate my perseverance and commitment through being in the Girl Guiding community. Girl Guides has taught me many life skills ever since a young age, including inclusivity and open-mindedness. These experiences helped me understand how important it is to care for my community and be a responsible individual.

I believe that my schooling experiences and my extracurricular activities contribute a lot to how I carry myself and how I work in different environments. Thank you for considering my application, and I look forward to seeing your feedback.

Thank you,

Sofia

Respectfully,
