

My act of service: fixing my grandpa's boat

Gino's act of service involved fixing his grandpa's boat and Gino a PLP learner at Seycove Secondary School. I learn how to work on something that I did not know how to do before. Together, Gino helped fix and do maintenance on the boat and find the issues that needed attention, from cleaning the engine. I learned skills like how to fix a boat engine. Gino's enthusiasm and knowledge about mechanics greatly contributed to our progress. Throughout the process it was hard, a lot of yelling and feeling like a chore and more like a rewarding experience. By the end of the day, we fixed what the boat, but we also created lasting memories. This act of service was not just about fixing the boat, it taught me the importance of family, collaboration, and dedication, highlighting how we can make a difference, even in small ways.
