

Self-Reflection Rubric

10 points possible ✕

Description

Taking a look at the skills necessary to post and reflect on your learning journey to this point

Grading criteria

EduBlogs Skills

Weight 50%

Exceeding Expectations 5 points

I can create a new blog post, put it into the right category, and formatted the text to visually appealing. The post has a strong password.

Fully Meeting Expectations 4 points

I can create a blog post, put it in the right category, and formatted the text to be clear. The post has a password.

Meeting Expectations 3 points

I can show a couple of the needed skills to finish the post, and formatted the text to show the different sections. The post has a simple password.

Minimally Meeting Expectations 2 points

I can create a post and put it in the right category, and formatted the text to show differences. The post has a password that is the students name or basic information.

Not Yet Meeting Expectations 1 point

I struggle with creating a post for my reflection and have not put it in the right category. The post does not have a password.

Reflective Capacity

Weight 50%

Exceeding Expectations 5 points

Has multiple competencies each with an "I" statement and detailed examples for their reflection

Fully Meeting Expectations 4 points

Has at least one competency with an "I" statement and a detailed example for their reflection.

Meeting Expectations 3 points

Has at least one competency with an "I" statement and simple example.

Minimally Meeting Expectations 2 points

Has at least one competency with either just an "I" statement or example

Not Yet Meeting Expectations 1 point

Just has the competency and does not follow the proper structure.